

NGO coalition report on follow up to the urgent recommendations of the UN Human Rights Committee

Updated version of a report<sup>1</sup> submitted in follow up to the recommendations of the UN Human Rights Committee (March 2015)

April 2016

Contributing organisations for the March 2015 report to the Human Rights committee:

Liga Moçambicana dos Direitos Humanos (LDH), Article 5 Initiative (T. Lorizzo), Centro de Estudos Moçambicanos e Internacionais (CEMO), Centro de Aprendizagem e Capacitação da Sociedade Civil (CESC), Centro de Estudos e Promoção de Cidadania, Direitos Humanos e Meio Ambiente (CODD), Centro de Estudos de Democracia e Desenvolvimento (CEDE), Associação Moçambicana para Defesa das Minorias Sexuais (LAMBDA), Ordem dos Advogados de Moçambique, Associação Centro de Direitos Humanos (ACDH), Fórum Mulher and Governance Development Institute (GDI)

With the support of the Centre for Civil and Political Rights.

Contributing organisations for the April 2016 update:

Reformar- Research for Mozambique (T. Lorizzo).

---

<sup>1</sup> <http://bit.ly/1N20QGb>

Background & rationale

Mozambique's initial report<sup>2</sup> to the Human Rights Committee (HR Ctte) on the implementation of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR) was reviewed in October 2013. In paragraph 24 of its concluding observations<sup>3</sup>, the HR Ctte requested Mozambique to provide within one year information on 3 recommendations (N° 13, 14 and 15) deemed as requiring priority attention.

These 3 priority recommendations primarily relate to:

- Arbitrary arrest and legal safeguards for persons in detention
- Monitoring places of detention, alternatives to detention and deaths in custody
- Judicial reform, including increased of judges, court fees and community courts

The Mozambique government submitted a follow up report<sup>4</sup> in November 2015 after the Human Right Committee's Rapporteur on follow up met with representatives of the Permanent Mission of Mozambique to the UN in Geneva

The undersigned organisations are presenting information on paragraphs 13, 14, and 15 based on the follow up procedure of the HR Ctte<sup>5</sup>. The submission of the present report follows a visit to Mozambique undertaken by the CCPR Centre<sup>6</sup> in November 2014. The focus on the 3 recommendations flagged as priority by the Human Rights Committee does not preclude in any way the relevance of other recommendations contained in the above mentioned Concluding Observations of the Committee to Mozambique, for which the authorities will be required to report in November 2017. The tables below provide suggested grades on the level of enactment of the Committee, recommendations, justifications for these grades, further actions needed and other comments.

The grades proposed in this report are based on the Committee's follow up procedure as follows:

Grade A: Response of the State Party / Action Satisfactory:

State Party Response / Action largely satisfactory

Grade B: Response of the State Party / Action partially satisfactory:

B1: Substantive action taken, but additional information required

B2: Initial action taken, but additional action / information required

Grade C: Response of the State Party / Action not satisfactory

C: No action taken by the State Party to implement the recommendation

For questions and feedback, please contact Vincent Ploton: vploton@ccprcentre.org

---

<sup>2</sup> <http://www.ccprcentre.org/doc/2013/08/G1242970.doc>

<sup>3</sup> www.ccprcentre.org/doc/2013/10/CCPR\_C\_MOZ\_CO\_1\_en.doc

<sup>4</sup> http://ccprcentre.org/files/documents/Gov\_follow\_up\_report\_23\_November\_2015.pdf

<sup>5</sup> <http://bit.ly/1NZWcWC>

<sup>6</sup> <https://www.facebook.com/media/set/?set=a.10152889140123839.1073741888.298121883838&type=1>

One page summary of HR Committee recommendations and the NGOs assessment on the current status of implementation:

Recommendation 13	Grade	Overview
The State party should take appropriate measures to ensure that no one under its jurisdiction is subject to arbitrary arrest or detention and that detained persons enjoy all legal guarantees, in compliance with articles 9 and 14 of the Covenant.	B1	The implementation of the Judgment of the Constitutional Council (4/CC/2013) and the adoption of the new criminal code represent a potential step forward in complying with this recommendation.
The State should ensure that persons deprived of their liberty are adequately informed about their rights so as to enable them to exercise in practice their right to effective judicial redress and compensation, and that appropriate sanctions be imposed on those responsible.	B2	Some progress noted with regards to the provision of human rights training to police and prison forces.
Recommendation 14
The State party should take urgent measures to establish a system of regular and independent monitoring of places of detention and to reduce overcrowding and improve conditions of detention, including for juvenile offenders, in line with the Covenant and the Standard Minimum Rules for the Treatment of Prisoners.	B2	Mozambique has ratified the OPCAT which represents an important step forward. However, the National Human Rights Commission, which has been designated as the National Preventive Mechanism (NPM), is not yet in a position to suitably fulfil the requirements of an effective NPM.
The State party should consider in this regard not only the construction of new prison facilities but also the application of alternative measures to pretrial detention, such as bail, home arrest, etc., and non-custodial sentences, such as suspended sentences, parole and community service.	B1	The new criminal code adopted in December 2014 envisages the possibility of community service as an alternative to incarceration.
The State party should investigate promptly cases of death in custody, prosecute those responsible and provide appropriate compensation to families of victims.	C	There have been no direct notable changes in that regard although some improvements were noted in the conditions of detention.
The State party should also ensure that the principle of separation of juvenile detainees from adults in detention facilities is respected and that prisoners who have completed their sentences are released without delay.	C	No specific developments evidenced in this regard
Recommendation 15
The State party should continue to increase the number of qualified and professionally trained judicial personnel, as a matter of urgency; continue efforts to decrease delays in proceedings, simplify and make transparent the procedure by which court fees are calculated and ensure that legal assistance is provided in all cases where the interest of justice so requires.	B2	There is a recognition of the need to increase the number of judges and prosecutors, which remains to be fulfilled. On the issues of court fees, a minimal reform has been adopted but much more needs to be done to address the large scale of the problem
The State party should also ensure that the system of community courts function in a manner consistent with article 14 and paragraph 24 of general comment No. 32 (2007) on the right to equality before courts and tribunals and to a fair trial, and decisions emanating from these bodies do not run counter the State party's obligations under the Covenant.	C	No specific steps taken in that regard

Paragraph 13

The Committee expresses concern at reports of arbitrary arrests and detention, including of children, lengthy pretrial detention beyond the legally prescribed limits, failure to inform detained persons about their rights, the reasons for their detention and the charges against them, and difficulties in detained persons having access to a lawyer from the very beginning of their detention. It is also concerned at the lack of knowledge by detained persons of their rights, which prevents them from claiming compensation for violations (arts. 9, 14, and 24).

Committee Recommendation	Suggested Grade	Action taken by the State	Further Actions needed	Other comments from the NGOs
The State party should take appropriate measures to ensure that no one under its jurisdiction is subject to arbitrary arrest or detention and that detained persons enjoy all legal guarantees, in compliance with articles 9 and 14 of the Covenant.	B1	In September 2013, i.e. a month before the HR Ctte review, the Constitutional Council adopted judgment 4/CC/2013<sup>7</sup> which introduced important changes in relation to arbitrary arrest or detention.<sup>8</sup> On 29 June 2015, the new Criminal Code (through law 35/2014) entered into force.<sup>9</sup> The new Criminal Code includes provisions against arbitrary arrest (Art. 7(2), 484 and 485) which used to be present in the previous version of the code (Art. 292).	The State should ensure that law enforcement authorities are trained on this development and those authorities who arbitrary arrest or detain citizens are made accountable before relevant courts of law. The State should secure the implementation and enforcement of Art. 59 and 64 of the Constitution and Art. 484 and 485 of the new Criminal Code, which prohibit arbitrary detentions. The State should take concrete steps to ensure that detained persons in police stations and penitentiary establishments have access to legal assistance and are able to enjoy freely all legal guarantees in accordance with Art. 61, 62 and 64 of the Constitution.	Between April and May 2016, the University Eduardo Mondlane is carrying out training on the international and national legal framework on arrest, police custody and pre-trial detention. Emphasis is given to the Guidelines on Conditions of Arrest, Police Custody and Pre-Trial Detention in Africa and the Acordão 4/CC/2013. The training is provided to members of the Mozambique Police Academy (ACIPOL) and the Centre for Judicial Training (Centro Formação Jurídica e Judiciária, CFJJ). The Civil Society Prison Reform Initiative has also organised a training on the same matters for members of the Institute for Legal Assistance and Representation (IPAJ) as well as judges and prosecutors, in Beira.

<sup>7</sup> <http://www.cconstitucional.org/mz/Jurisprudencia/04-CC-2013>

<sup>8</sup> Also see "Revolution in Pretrial detention in Mozambique" Open Society Initiative for Southern Africa, 7 October 2013 <http://www.osisa.org/law/mozambique/revolution-pre-trial-detention-laws-mozambique>.

<sup>9</sup> Approved by the Assembly of Republic through Boletim da República n. 105, I Série, 14<sup>a</sup> Suplemento de 31 de Dezembro de 2014.

		The new code has criminalised lynching, (Art. 159) and torture (Art.160) which are new provisions. Despite the advances related to the new Criminal Code, civil society including the undersigned organisations have emphasized that the process leading up to the adoption by the National Assembly of the new Code lacked inclusiveness and transparency<sup>10</sup>.		The Attorney General Office has opened a telephonic 'green line' to communicate illegal arrest and detention. 5 prosecutors in Maputo are in duty to monitor arrests and detentions in police stations. The Constitutional Council judgement of 2013 followed a national campaign led by the undersigned organisation LDH and consorts. However, more needs to be done in practice to put an end to arbitrary arrests and detentions. For instance, judges report that law enforcement authorities arbitrarily arrest people <sup>11</sup> and the undersigned organisations report cases of citizens arbitrarily detained for being unable to pay court fees. In general, the authorities who abuse power and the use of force to arbitrarily arrest or detain citizens are not made accountable for their actions. The public prosecution rarely carry out investigations against the police, which promotes a culture of impunity.
The State should ensure that persons deprived of their liberty are adequately informed about their rights so as to enable them to exercise in	B2	ACIPOL (Academia de Ciências Policiais) and the Basic Police Training School of Matalane, close to Maputo, provide training to police. While police is also trained on human rights related issues, the training does	The State should post visible boards in each police stations and prisons enumerating people's rights in police custody and prison detention. The State should deliver effective and regular human rights training to all police and prison staff in order to guarantee the application of legal safeguards for detained persons and the compliance with the recommendation of the Human Rights	Most of the persons deprived of their liberty are not promptly and properly informed about their rights and in certain situations are not even informed about the charges against them. The State should make publicly available information about sanctions imposed to public officials responsible for unlawful

<sup>10</sup> Verdade; 17 July 2014 <http://www.verdade.co.mz/destaques/democracia/47589-novo-codigo-penal-entra-em-vigor-em-fevereiro>

<sup>11</sup> <http://www.jornalnoticias.co.mz/index.php/primeiro-plano/40418-policia-continua-a-prender-fora-do-flagrante-delito-queixa-e-de-dimas-marroa-juiz-presidente-de-nampula>

practice their right to effective judicial redress and compensation, and that appropriate sanctions be imposed on those responsible.		not cover comprehensively and on a regular basis all matters relating to human rights. The prison administration (SERNAP) slightly improved the provision of human rights training to the penitentiary agents. Although the training does not cover comprehensively and on a regular basis all matters relating to human rights, there is a new commitment to train the staff on human rights related issues. An undergraduate degree on Penitentiary Administration has been designed and the first post-graduate courses have already been offered including human rights issues, in collaboration with ACIPOL (Academia de Ciencias Policiais).	Committee. The impact of the training should be assessed. With regards to compensation for victims of unlawful arrests or detention, the current legislation (Law 23/2013<sup>12</sup> and criminal procedure code) does not provide a clear framework as both judicial courts and the administrative courts consider themselves incompetent to arbitrate compensations for unlawful detentions. The State should encounter a solution considering that Article 58 of the Constitution of the Mozambican Republic (CRM) says that:          1. Everyone shall have the right to claim compensation in accordance with the law, for damages caused by a violation of their fundamental rights.          2. The State shall be responsible for damages caused by the unlawful acts of its agents, in the performance of their functions, without prejudice to rights of recourse available under the law.	actions, especially police and prison officials. The statistics provided by the government in their follow up report submitted to the HR Committee on 23rd November 2015<sup>13</sup> on sanctions taken against correctional facilities staff are relevant, but they lack clarity (for instance, the 8 mentioned communications are made by whom and to whom? With what effects?). Sources should be provided and such statistics should be made publicly available in Mozambique.
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--	-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

<sup>12</sup> Article 5 (1) c) stipulates that acts relating to criminal investigation and criminal prosecution in criminal matters are excluded from the jurisdiction of the Administrative Court

<sup>13</sup> "Response to concerns raised in paragraphs 13, 14 and 15 of the recommendations made by the Human Rights Committee following the examination of the Government of Mozambique during its 109th Session" §5

Paragraph 14

While noting the efforts made by the State party to improve conditions of detention, including the ongoing construction of a new prison facility, the Committee expresses concern at the severe overcrowding, deplorable conditions of detention, including insanitary conditions, inadequate food and health care, and cases of death in custody. The Committee is further concerned that the separation of minors from adults is not always guaranteed and that prisoners who have completed their sentences are sometimes not released by prison authorities (arts. 6, 7, 9, 10, 14, 24).

Committee Recommendation	Grade	Action taken by the State	Further Actions needed	Other comments from the NGOs
The State party should take urgent measures to establish a system of regular and independent monitoring of places of detention and to reduce overcrowding and improve conditions of detention, including for juvenile offenders, in line with the Covenant and the Standard Minimum Rules for the Treatment of Prisoners.	B2	Mozambique ratified the Optional Protocol to the UN Convention against Torture on 1st July 2014 (OPCAT). The National Human Rights Commission was designated as the National Preventive Mechanism (NPM) under OPCAT (Resolution 23/2013). The NHRC as an independent body performs some monitoring of the places where persons are deprived of their liberty. However, the NHRC does not benefit with several requirements as spelt	The State should ratify the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights and urgently adopt and implement concrete measures as to reduce overcrowding and deplorable conditions of detention especially regarding inadequate food and health care. The State should take concrete measures to cater for the specific needs of detainees with mental health problems; lengthy pretrial detentions, and mixing of sentenced detainees with pre-trial detainees. One of the best ways to implement the two above measures is to strengthen the NPM in accordance with the SPT Guidelines. Both the prison and judicial systems	The current capacity of all existing prisons nationwide is 8.188 people. However, data from the National Penitentiary Service of 2015, indicate that the existing prison population in the country, including convicted and detainees exceeds 15 000 citizens. This figure clearly shows the overcrowding of prisons in three times, exceeding largely the real capacity of the prison system. The prisons have a significant number of inmates suffering from mental health problems, particularly in Maputo. These inmates should be moved to specialised institutions given that prison staff is not trained to deal with them and have complained of difficulties in managing this situation. Although it is mandated to monitor all places of detention, the NHRC has no access to the police cells, despite repeated formal request to visit these cells. Unlike prisons, which are under the authority of the Ministry of Justice,

		out in the OPCAT & SPT Guidelines on NPMs <sup>14</sup> , including access to police detention facilities.	should suitably respond to legally sound requests for parole and use alternatives to imprisonment when legally possible	police cells are under the authority of the Ministry of Interior. The undersigned report repeated lack of access to lawyers in these police premises. It is hoped that the expected visit of the UN SPT in 2016 will contribute to some evolutions in this regard.
The State party should consider in this regard not only the construction of new prison facilities but also the application of alternative measures to pretrial detention, such as bail, home arrest, etc., and non-custodial sentences, such as suspended sentences, parole and community service.	B1	Alternatives to pretrial detention and non-prison sentences were adopted in the recently approved Criminal Code<sup>15</sup>. As one of the strategies for mitigation the prison overcrowding and improving detention conditions, the Government of Mozambique has decided to build new prisons with larger capacity in Maputo Province and two prison complexes in the central and northern regions of the country. However, this project has yet to find funds<sup>16</sup>	The State should take concrete actions to sensitise Parliament to approve the Criminal Procedure Code and other penal legislation awaiting to be passed and to ensure the implementation of the changes provided in the new Penal Code.	The new Criminal Code introduces alternative punishments and measures to imprisonment. While Article 85 introduces educational and socially useful measures, Article 88 and 89 provide respectively for the alternative measures to imprisonment and alternative punishment to imprisonment. In practice, one of the alternative penalty to imprisonment, the community service, for example, must be applied by judges to all people who will commit crimes punishable with a prison sentence between 2 and 8 years, respecting the requirements of Article 102<sup>17</sup>. According to Article 5 Initiative, sentenced people amount to 10,645 of whom 2,563 are serving sentences of between two and eight years of imprisonment; 3,982 people are serving sentences of between less than three months and two years, while 4,100 people are serving sentences of between eight and twenty four years. The imposition of short prison sentences to 37,4% of the sentenced people population contributes to the serious

<sup>14</sup> Guidelines on national preventive mechanisms; CAT/OP/12/5; December 2010 http://www2.ohchr.org/english/bodies/cat/opcat/docs/SPT\_Guidelines\_NPM\_en.doc

<sup>15</sup> Novo Código Penal de Moçambique traz muitas novidades; Deutsche Welle; 16 July 2014 <http://dw.de/p/1Ce9o>

<sup>16</sup> <http://www.jornalnoticias.co.mz/index.php/sociedade/39150-a-construir-na-moamba-complexo-penitenciario-aguarda-financiamento>

<sup>17</sup> The person is not a recidivist; The person has returned the stolen property; The person has totally or partially repaired the damages caused to the victim and community and; The person has submitted himself/herself to the duties and rules of conduct of the Criminal Procedure Code on the provisional suspension of the case.

				overcrowding problem, undermining the state's ability to meet the minimum standards of humane detention with specific reference to food, accommodation, safety and healthcare <sup>18</sup>
The State party should investigate promptly cases of death in custody, prosecute those responsible and provide appropriate compensation to families of victims.	C	There have been no direct notable changes in that regard although some improvements were noted in the conditions of detention.	In addition to seeking to comply with the recommendation of the Human Rights Committee, the State should revise the legislation on victims' rights. Article 58 of the Constitution is quite generic, providing for the right to claim compensation generally related to 'violations of [people] fundamental rights caused by the unlawful acts of public agents.' At the moment only compensation is provided, which is difficult to be achieved, also related to arrest.<sup>19</sup> However, in 2012, the Administrative Court condemned the State (Ministry of Interior) to pay 500 thousand meticais (12 thousand dollars) to the family of an 11 years old child who was killed by the police, during a public protest, in Maputo.<sup>20</sup> Redress in general, including access to psychological support, is not provided. Law 15/2012<sup>21</sup> on	The public prosecution rarely carry out investigations regarding deaths in custody which are all portrayed as due to natural causes. There is no record of payment of compensation to families of victims in this regard. The Mozambican government approved the Organic Statute of the National Penitentiary Service through Decree No. 63/2013 in December 2013 and the Statute of the National Penitentiary Service personnel which define the roles of the penitentiary guards and improve their working conditions. Prisons have known some improvements at sanitation and food levels through improved access to water and sanitation as well as increase in food quantity. However, prisons are still overcrowded and many detainees are held in prolonged pre-trial detention.<sup>22</sup> According to the National Human Rights Commission, poor conditions of detention could be blamed in some instances of death in custody.

<sup>18</sup> Unpublished report of Article 5 Initiative.

<sup>19</sup> Available at http://www.amnistia-internacional.pt/dmdocuments/Mocambique\_Obstaculos\_Justica.pdf (Accessed on 10 August 2015).

<sup>20</sup> Judgment n. 89/2012, of process n. 214/2010 – 1st Chamber of Administrative Court.

<sup>21</sup> https://www.baselgovernance.org/sites/collective.localhost/files/publications/dfid\_anti-corruption\_mozambique.pdf pg 19.

			protection of victims, witnesses and whistle-blowers is yet to be implemented. The offices of protections of these victims are yet to be created.
The State party should also ensure that the principle of separation of juvenile detainees from adults in detention facilities is respected and that prisoners who have completed their sentences are released without delay.	C	No specific developments evidenced in this regard. As at February 2015 there were 1,389 children (16-21 years old) imprisoned in Mozambique, 461 of whom in were pre-trial detention (Data of SERNAP).	The State should urgently take concrete actions as to provide more juvenile penitentiary establishments The State should take concrete actions to free prisoners who have completed their sentences and to ensure effective control over illicit selling of release orders made by judiciary staff.	The only Centre for Juvenile Rehabilitation is in Boane, 30 km from Maputo. Here juveniles between 16 and 21 years old, serve their sentences. In the other Penitentiary Centres of the country juveniles are likely to be detained and serve their sentences with adults.

<sup>22</sup> Prison reforms in Mozambique fail to touch the ground; Tina Lorizzo; 2012, South African Crime Quarterly no. 42; available at <http://www.ajol.info/index.php/sacq/article/download/101398/90586>

Paragraph 15

While noting the efforts made by the State party regarding the training and employment of more judges, the Committee remains concerned about the insufficient number of judges and their inadequate training. It is further concerned about the lengthy delays in the administration of justice, the lack of clarity on the calculation of court fees and difficulties encountered by disadvantaged persons in accessing legal assistance. The Committee is also concerned at reports that the system of community courts inherited from colonial times does not appear to function according to basic fair trial principles and their decisions can contradict human rights principles (arts. 2 and 14).

Committee Recommendation	Grade	Action taken by the State	Further Actions needed	Other comments from the NGOs
The State party should continue to increase the number of qualified and professionally trained judicial personnel, as a matter of urgency; continue efforts to decrease delays in proceedings, simplify and make transparent the procedure by which court fees are calculated and ensure that legal assistance is provided in all cases where the interest of justice so requires.	B2	There are plans to increase the training of new judges and prosecutors. Regarding court fees the adoption of a decree in November 2014 fails to bring suitable solutions to this entrenched problem	The initial steps taken to fundamentally reform court fees, simplify and improve the justice system must be fruitfully completed. Judges, prosecutors and members of State legal support institution IPAJ (Instituto de Patrocínio e Assistência Jurídica) should be remunerated regardless of court fees. The State should take concrete actions to ensure effective control over illicit payments made to judiciary staff and quench corruption. The State should also make publicly available information about disciplinary actions and/or criminal proceedings taken	The only training centre for judges and prosecutors in the country, in Maputo, trains an average of 60 new students every year. There are no plans to increase that number, which has been consistent throughout the past few years. Nationwide, only 288 judges and 374 prosecutors are in active duty, a very low figure for a country of approx. 24 million people.<sup>23</sup> The quality and commitment to justice and protection of human rights by the judicial staff is deficient. This contributes to a weak rule of law. The undersigned organizations continued to receive numerous complaints from rights holders on the poor quality of the justice system after the review of Mozambique. In November 2014, the Mozambique government adopted decree N° 67/2014, which introduced reforms to 3 provisions of the national Code on Court Fees (46, 160 &amp; 167). Although this process represents a positive step in the right direction, the undersigned organisations reported that the process of calculating court fees was still very unclear. Many legal professionals do not understand the method of calculating court fees which directly contributes to hindering access to justice in Mozambique. According to the undersigned organisations, the amount of court

<sup>23</sup> See Informe Anual de 2014 do Procurador Geral da República, Discursos de Abertura do Ano Judicial 2015, Discursos da Abertura Oficial do ano Judicial de 2015 e Discurso oficial da Procuradora Geral da República na tomada de posse de 18 magistrados Distritais a 30 de Janeiro de 2015.

			against judges, prosecutors and judicial officials.	fees also relates to the remuneration of judges and Public Prosecutor's Office. Due to that, the judges have denied exemption from court fees to citizens by refusing the poverty certificates in order to benefit from the fees. Furthermore, the magistrates have promoted delays of processes to profit from the payment of additional court fees. There is a growing trend to condemn those who are better capable of paying the legal fees, as individuals who are acquitted do not have to pay court fees.
The State party should also ensure that the system of community courts function in a manner consistent with article 14 and paragraph 24 of general comment No. 32 (2007) on the right to equality before courts and tribunals and to a fair trial, and decisions emanating from these bodies do not run counter the State party's obligations under the Covenant.	C	No specific steps taken in that regard  The new Criminal Code has abolished para.2 of Article 3 of Law 2/1994. The provision gave community courts the competence to solve crimes of small gravity not punishable with prison sentence.	The State should adopt concrete measures to ensure that Community Courts respect human rights and the rule of law.  The State should provide training to the judges of Community Courts regarding the functioning of the courts and tribunals and on human rights.  The state should revise law 2/1994 which regulates the functioning of community courts.  Academic studies should be carried out in all provinces of the country to understand the reality of the problems facing community courts and how to tackle them.	Community courts are recognised constitutionally (Art.4 – Legal Pluralism) as a form of customary justice and they have notoriously contributed to dispute solving at the local level. However, these courts have also become sources of human rights violations, as in cases of decisions that violate rights of women and promote discrimination; or sentences which apply corporal punishment and damage to property burning the house of the adulterer, expulsion from the community of citizens accused of witchcraft, etc. <sup>24</sup> Various such cases have been documented by LDH. It is noteworthy that the Mozambique state follow up report does not make reference to the important issue of community courts.  Most of the Community Courts have no proper facilities and have been functioning in the office of the 'Segretario do Bairro' i.e. the premises of the ruling Frelimo party.  There are places, as Mocimba da Praia, in the North of the country, Cabo Delgado Province, where some community courts are operated by FRELIMO and others by RENAMO. In the cities of Beira and Nampula, new community courts have been established under the municipality of the party MDM. This has been a source of concern on the political dependence of these mechanisms. <sup>25</sup>

<sup>24</sup> See AfriMap. Mozambique Justice Sector and the Rule of Law. Pg. 133 .Available at http://www.afri-map.org/english/images/report/Mozambique%20Justice%20report%20\(Eng\).pdf.pdf).

<sup>25</sup> Tina Lorizzo, unpublished paper.